Eligible medical expense

Medical expenses that can be reimbursed through your spending account include services and supplies incurred by you or your eligible dependents for the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of disease or for the amounts you pay for transportation to get medical care.

In general, deductions allowed for medical expenses on your federal income tax according to Internal Revenue Code Section 213 (d) may be reimbursed through your spending account. You cannot deduct medical expenses on your federal income tax that have been reimbursed through your spending account.

Potentially eligible over-the-counter expenses

In order to determine eligibility for potentially eligible items, SelectAccount requires a Letter of Medical Necessity from your health care provider. You can obtain a Letter of Medical Necessity to have your health care provider complete at www.selectaccount.com.

Valid Prescription

A valid prescription means a signed written order, or an oral order reduced to writing, given by a practitioner licensed to prescribe drugs to patients in the course of the practitioner's practice, issued for an individual patient and containing the following: the date of issue, name and address of the patient, name and quantity of the drug prescribed, directions for use, and the name and address of the prescriber.

Ineligible medical expenses

Items that are toiletries or cosmetics or that are likely to be primarily for general health and well being.

These lists are intended to serve as a quick reference and are provided with the understanding that SelectAccount is not engaged in rendering tax advice. For more detailed information, as to what is reimbursable under your personal spending account, please refer to IRS Code Section 213(d). IRS Publication 502, "Medical and Dental Expenses," Catalog Number 15002Q also details what expenses can be deducted as medical expenses on the Form 1040 Schedule A. If you have any questions about whether or not an item is eligible, please contact SelectAccount <sup>SM</sup> customer service at (651) 662-5065 or toll free at 1-800-859-2144. If tax advice is required, seek the services of a competent professional.
